HIS PLAN TO MAKE

Closes His Statement on "the Causeless War" by Plea for Peace Treaties.

CALLS FOR MEDIATION

If United States Isn't Ready He Urges That Some Other Neutral Undertake It.

WASHINGTON, June 18 .- Former cretary Bryan in the third and conduding section of his statement on "The Causeless War," issued to-day, uggests mediation as "the way out." As a preventive of war, Mr. Bryan proposes universal extension of his ence treaty plan.

"Mediation," the former Secretary of State says, "is the means, provided by international agreement, through which the belligerent nations can be prought into conference. Time for inrestigation of all disputes in the means by which future wars can be averted and the cultivation of international friendship is the means by which the desire for war can be rooted out."

In elaborating his plan for restoration of peace, Mr. Bryan urges that neutral nations, in advocating peace, crystallize sentiment in favor of peace and offer mediation jointly or severally; that the warring nations join in a treaty to provide for investigation "by a permanent international commission of every dispute that may arise, no matter what its character or nature," and that a world-wide educational movement to cultivate a spirit of brotherhood among the nations be undertaken as the final task of the advocates of peace.
"Great nations cannot be exterminated," says Mr. Bryan. "Predictions at the beginning of the war have not been fulfilled. The British did not destroy the German fleet in a month; Germany did not take Paris in two months, and the Russian army did not eat Christmas dinner in Berlin. But even if extermination were possible it would be a crime against civilization which no nation or group of nations could afford to commit.

"When can peace be restored? Any time now, if the participants are really weary of this war and ready for it to end. If any nation is not ready, let its ruler state in clear, distinot and definite terms the conditions upon which it is willing to agree to peace; then, if an agreement is not reached, blame for the continuance of the war will be upon those who make unusual demands."

In proposing mediation the former secretary points out that The Hague Convention expressly declares an offer of mediation shall not be considered an unfriendly act.

"The duty of offering mediation," he says, "may seem to rest primarily on the United States, the largest of the neutral nations and the one most intimately bound by tie of blood to all the belligerents. The United States did make an offer immediately after the war began, but why no again and again until our offer or some other offer is accepted?

"But our action, or failure to act, need not deter any other neutral nation from acting. This is not a time to stand on ceremony. If any other country, for any reason-no matter what the reason may be-is in a better position than we to tender its good offices, it should not delay a moment."

To assure permanent peace, Mr. Bryan urges that his plan of investi-gation treaties be adopted by the warring nations.

"A treaty such as those which now protect the peace of the United States," he says, "would give a year's time for investigation and report, and who doubts that a year's time would be sufficient to reach an amicable solution of almost every difficulty? Does any one suppose that the present war would have been begun if a year's time had been taken to investigate the dispute between Austria and Serbia?"

What we do to have your gloves absolutely perfect

One girl, the first Kayser inspector, is paid 1/2 cent should she find a blemish in our silk fabric when it is cut ready to seam.

The second is paid 1 cent a pair should she find a flaw after the glove is seamed.

The next inspector gets 1% cents a pair if she detects an imperfection.

The fourth and final - the supervisor - receives 2 cents a pair if she discovers the slightest defect.

This is the care we take to have your silk gloves absolutely perfect. This is why we can guarantee every one of the millions of Kayser Silk Gloves which American women wear each season.
